STORY

Since 1994, TimeLine Video, a certified woman-owned Westchester, New York based digital content developer, has been producing award-winning short form video content for broadcast commercial, promotional, corporate communication, events and web-based clients. The TimeLine team represents a diverse and well-coordinated balance of youthful exuberance and mature insight. Whether its source is an iPhone, the latest digital cinema camera, or good old celluloid, our team has done it all, and for a long time.

We believe this process needs to remain fun, and we love being on the waterfront (and steps from the Metro North train station) in Irvington, New York. Our offices are spacious yet homey, resulting in a relaxed and highly focused work environment. Even when we work around the clock, we maintain our good humor and harmony.
